HODGE, MOJAVE DESERT, CALIF. Jan. 26.—Interesting place this desert with marvellously fertile soil when water is added. The writer has 5,000 acres here, raises alfalfa, seven to nine tons to the acre a season, loses money at it and does not advise anybody to buy land here unless he wants to lose money or work the land himself.

But for climate, beautiful hills and mountains, strange animals, jackrabbits, coyotes, lynx and painted horses, giant desert turtles, armored cactus and for contemplation in solitude of "life, death and the vast eternity," no better place could be found.

Amos and Andy penetrate the solitude, competing with Walter Damrosch's concert and the carefree words of "Happy Days Are Here Again" if you care to tune in. In homesteaders' cottages the supper hour is arranged to fit the eastern time of the household radio favorites.

And through the day while the man irrigates the wife listens to all the news, about fashions, price of eggs, weather, politics, crime, etc.

Gerald Swope, president of General Electric, now in Los Angeles, is invited to meet at luncheon, everybody that is anybody. He will be asked for further details of the automatic, self controlling flying machine on which the laboratories at Schenectady have been working in connection with the Sperry Gyroscope Co. If hopes are realized that self protecting plane will be safe from crashing in fog. The sonic altimeter brings the machine down safely to within three or four feet of the earth, in the thickest fog, enabling the pilot to land the machine, knowing his exact distance above ground.

A German invention, the radiometer, picks up the beacon light of a landing field, even in fog, three miles farther away than the pilot can see it, letting him know that it is there, and indicates to him a straight line to that beacon. What men are determined to do, they can do. And they are determined to fly safely, thanks to science, financed and encouraged by giant corporations, with resources unlimited, they will do it.

Complaint is heard here and elsewhere of "favoritism in hiring Mexicans." There is no such favoritism.

STATE SEEKING MORE LAND FOR
GUILFORD PARKApproximately 100 Acres
Are Now Covered
With Water

LISBON, Jan. 26.—Approximately 100 acres are now under water at the new Guilford state park in Hanover township, with a depth of about 12 feet being registered at the lock gate. This is the largest volume of water that has accumulated since the gate was closed last fall.

It is the intent of the state to purchase about 700 additional acres of land for this park, at an average cost of $65 per acre. Options on this additional acreage have been taken for the state by E. J. Campbell of Salem and Dr. C. McCandless who is associated with the department of agriculture.

The state legislature is expected to make an appropriation during the current session for the purchase of this additional land, and improvements to the property will be made from funds now in the hands of the state agriculture department.

It has been announced that the fish and game division of the agricultural department plans the erection of a modern fish hatchery at Guilford park as soon as the additional acreage is acquired, thereby permitting a larger accumulation of water.

In Mahoning County Investigations, Faces Court

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 26.—Trial of W. E. Simcox, one of the five persons indicted by the grand jury as a result of an investigation into the Mahoning county elections board scandal, was to begin in common pleas court here today.

Simcox, the third of the group to be given a hearing, is charged with having an interest in a contract for the purchase of some merchandise by the elections board, while holding membership on the board.

Three witnesses were to be called by the state, according to Assistant County Prosecutor James Cooper. Byron Morgan, former clerk of the board, who pleaded guilty to charges of defalcation of public funds at his hearing and then testified for the state when E. N. Nemenyi, part-time employee of the board, was found guilty on similar charges last week, will not be called in the Simcox trial.

Judge Lodge Riddle
Back From Capital

LISBON, Jan. 26.—Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, upon his return from Columbus, where he attended the annual meeting of the Probate Judges' association, expresses the opinion that the legislature would, at this session, pass new bills that would have a bearing upon the future work of probate courts.

Recommendations for changes in the laws governing the work of probate courts as outlined by the State Bar association have been approved by the Judges' association.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—An early move to consolidate Republican sentiment in congress, both wet and dry, upon proposals for a nation-wide prohibition referendum—already advocated by members of the Wickersham commission—was forecast today in congressional quarters.

No Voting This Session
There was no expectation, however, of voting on any referendum proposal at this session. The current congressional situation is such that the leaders anticipate only debate and minor engagements. Anything approaching decisive clashes would have to wait for next session at least.

The Howell bill for a District of Columbia enforcement act is furnishing the senate with opportunities for prohibition debate of a general nature, but it is not being taken earnestly as an opportunity for a showdown on the national issue.

Some of those in congress anxious to determine public sentiment upon the dry laws would not be quoted but Representative Fort, Republican, New Jersey, author of a "resubmission" plan, asserted that "before this session is much older sentiment will take concrete shape."

Suggest Congress Act
Chairman Wickersham and Federal Judges William S. Kenyon and Paul J. McCormick of the law enforcement commission, put forward in their individual prohibition reports a plan similar to Fort's it would provide that an amendment to repeal the eighteenth amendment be submitted by congress directly to state constitutional conventions elected solely for this purpose.

"Such a procedure," Wickersham argued, "might remove the issue from party politics. If the results were to support the eighteenth amendment, public opinion would promote observance and sustain a reasonable, intelligent enforcement—if the preponderating opinion should oppose prohibition, the way would be opened to revision of amendment such, for example, as

Friends Church Ends; Large Crowds In Attendance

With the largest crowd in attendance during the series, the revival meetings in progress at the First Friends church for more than two weeks, closed Sunday night.

The evangelist, Rev. Charles Stalker of Columbus, used for the theme of his closing message, "The summer is ended, the harvest is past and I am not saved."

Rev. Stalker pointed out that a person did not need to commit murder or some awful crime, to be lost, but that those who reject God's plan of salvation will be lost.

Saturday evening he used as his text, "There is appointed unto man once to die, and after death the judgment."

Some of those in attendance at the closing service were from Alliance, Winona and Beloit.

Rev. Stalker will spend a short time in his home at Columbus before going to Rhode Island. From there he will go to England. He has traveled over the world in his evangelist work.

Tickets for the Red Cross charity ball, to be held next Friday night at the Elks home, are in the hands of a committee and today an organized effort to make the ball a success is well under way.

For Drought Relief
This ball has been arranged to help raise the Salem chapter's quota of $1,800 for drought relief, the goal of the American Red Cross throughout the nation being $10,000,000.

F. Troy Cope, chairman of the local disaster relief committee, pointed to the fact that Salem always has exceeded the goal in calls for emergency relief and he anticipates such will be the result in this case. Should the goal of $1,800 be exceeded, all funds over that amount will be retained for Red Cross relief work in Salem, according to an announcement today by Mrs. Myra Woodruff, executive secretary of the Salem chapter.

Dawson Heads Committee

The ticket committee for the charity ball is headed by E. S. Dawson and Miss Myra Erwin. Other members are Paul Covert, J. H. Wilson, Joseph Kelley, Mrs. G. R. Deming, Mrs. James Hill, Mrs. Arthur S. Brian, Mrs. Ward F. Eckstein, Mrs. L. W. King, Mrs. Albert Silver and Mrs. M. H. Mawhinney.

The Elks hall, use of which has been donated by the lodge, will be decorated by a committee of which Mrs. Frank H. Sebring is chairman. Refreshments, including sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts, will be on sale during the dance. Mrs. W. P. Carpenter will be in charge of this committee.

Ray Bartholomew and members of his orchestra will donate their services.

Police Chief T. W. Thompson left this morning for St. Louis, Mo., where authorities are holding Fredrick W. Blankard, 27, former Salem resident, on charges filed against him in the court of Mayor J. M. Davidson. Blankard has waived extradition.

Patrolman Ralph Steffer will be acting police chief in Thompson's absence. The latter is expected to be away for a week or ten days. Blankard is wanted by Salem police on charges of breaking and entering the Paul W. Patterson service station, East Pershing st., theft of money order blanks from the American Express company office and circulation of 11 questionable bank checks.

He was arrested in St. Louis last week and is said by authorities there to have admitted crimes charged against him here.

Tragedy Walks With "Share
Croppers" In Drought DramaArkansas Roads, Clogged With Wagons, Buggies; Men And Women Walking With Flour,
Lard, Tell Graphic Story

(By Associated Press)
MARKED TREE, ARK., Jan. 26.—Roads clogged with wagons and buggies—not automobiles—and men and women walking, with sacks of flour on their shoulders and pails of lard in their hands, tell a graphic story of what the drought has done to parts of Arkansas.

It's the same picture nearly everywhere in the eastern section of the state, which is the heart of the drought area.

These are the "share croppers" as they are called, on their way to the nearest Red Cross relief office or going back to their homes with the meagre rations thus provided.

Nearly always it's a sack of flour and either a pail of lard or a little package of plain salt pork. These are prescribed by the Red Cross.

It may be lard one week and meat the next, because even from the $2 a week and 50 cents for each child given them, they sometimes find it possible to save out a little meat one week and lard the next, so they alternate, one week taking lard and the next meat.

They're walking or riding in wagons and buggies, because they either have sold their automobiles if they ever had any, or they do not have the money to operate them.

The small villages are not bothered so much with an automobile parking problem for the old fashioned hitching rack has returned.

For the most part, these destitute people who are dependent upon the Red Cross for food, are a philosophical lot. Hardships are not new to them. Most of them are resigned to their condition and are uncomplaining.

The homes of these "share croppers" contain the drama and the tragedy of the drought aftermath.

Many of them live in shacks built of logs or in dilapidated board houses. They have little furniture—perhaps a bed, two or three chairs and a stove in one room and a kitchen. Many are less fortunate than this.

Library Session
To Be Postponed

The annual meeting of the Salem Public Library association, scheduled Saturday, will be postponed until a future date, Miss Alice Gladden, librarian, announced today.

As a result of the absence of three members of the library board, it will be impossible to hold the meeting this week, Miss Gladden said. The association's by-laws, however, stipulate that the meeting be called. Those members able to be present probably will convene, only to effect a postponement.

Mrs. F. J. Emery, now visiting in New York; G. R. Deming, who is in Florida; and H. H. Sharp, in Florida at present, are members who will be unable to attend the meeting.

The affidavit was signed by Sheriff W. J. Barlow, Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht announced that the machine would be destroyed and the money found in it would be turned over to the Salvation Army.

POONA, INDIA, Jan. 26.—Mahatma Gandhi, frail 61-year-old leader of the Indian nationalists, was released from prison tonight shortly after eleven o'clock.

They took him out the back way secretly, bundled him into a closed automobile with drawn curtains and drove to a small railway station about ten miles from Poona, where authorities put him on a Bombay train.

The little old man wore only his usual homespun cloth and a thin cotton shawl over his shoulders. He was thin and worn.

With him on the train was the woman nationalist, Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, India's leading poetess. Along the roads through which the automobile raced were posted armed sentries who turned back cars which sought to follow the Mahatma.

The authorities had maintained the closest secrecy regarding Gandhi's release as a precaution

YOUTH IS HELD
FOR GRAND JURYJames Cooper Pleads Not Guilty To Breaking
And Entering

Entering a plea of not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling, James Cooper, 20-year-old Salem youth, was bound over to the county grand jury on $1,500 bond by Mayor J. M. Davidson Saturday.

The not guilty plea was entered in Cooper's behalf by his counsel, Atty. Joel H. Sharp. Unable to furnish bond, Cooper was taken to the county jail in Lisbon where he will be held pending arraignment before the grand jury.

The charge against Cooper is based upon his alleged participation in the theft of $5 in cash, a fountain pen, playing cards and other goods from the home of C. M. Wilson, East State street, on Jan. 5.

Cooper, together with four other Salem youths, the latter between ages of 14 and 17, are said by police to have been responsible for more than 15 petty thefts in the last month. A complete confession of their criminal activities was made by one of the gang's members, police say.

The four juveniles have been turned over to County Probation Officer J. H. McCready.

Splits Them Up

AUSTIN, TEX., Jan. 26.—The Wickersham report has divided parties and individuals into the following classification.

The "Retainists," that's the ones that want to retain the amendment and the liquor that goes with it.

The "Abolitionists," those are the ones that want the amendment abolished, and retain the liquor.

Then there is the "Appropriationists," they want some money appropriated whether its abolished or retained.

Then there is the "State Ritters," They want their state to handle the revenue that comes from liquor, under the present plan.

Then the big majority belong to the "willing to be convinced as soon as they see how the people will vote" plan. Kind of got Mr. Hoover hanging on the fringes of that group.

Yours,
Will Rogers

THE OTHER SIDE

The Wickersham commission's report, like any collection of opinion on a controversial matter, lends itself readily to colored interpretations. Thus, prohibitionists find it to their liking; anti-prohibitionists find it to their liking; and modificationists find it to their liking. It is, in fact, this easy adaptability to any and all views that irritated the majority of commentators, judging from the tone of their remarks.

But, since the majority of commentators agreed that the report lacked in certain definite qualities and that it lost value for that reason it was to be expected that sooner or later a dissenting opinion would be heard. And from whom could it come with more force than H. L. Mencken, America's favorite dissenter? No one.

So, Mr. Mencken, in an article copyrighted by the Baltimore Evening Sun, tells why the Wickersham commission's report is a "document of manifold and unusual merits." "From end to end," he says, "its tone is admirably fair and judicious. There is no special pleading in it, and not the slightest sign of a desire to evade the plain issues."

Continuing with his defense, Mr. Mencken calls attention to the fact that the purpose of the report was to recommend a concrete course of action to the President; that theory, therefore, had to be sacrificed to practicality. The commission, first of all, had to bear in mind that Mr. Hoover, as leader of the Republican party, was put into office on a platform with a dry plank in it. His sworn duty as President furthermore, was to execute both the 18th amendment and the Volstead act as long as they remained on the books. With these reasonable limitations in mind the Wickersham commission did a job so good as to be almost brilliant, Mr. Mencken believes. Their report takes cognizance of the two salient facts: That prohibition is in the constitution and will be hard to get out, and that there is widespread dissatisfaction with its present operation. The facts are irrefragable, consequently, no attempt is made to reconcile them.

One passage of sound reasoning is particularly appealing. It reads:

"Hitherto, discussion of the Wickersham commission has been corrupted by the coarseness of doctrinaires on both sides. The drys have demanded a kind of submission that is psychologically impossible to a self-respecting people, and the wets have sometimes preached rebellion without taking into account its more inconvenient consequences. Now both sides have before them massive proof that the solution will not be easy, and that if it is ever reached at all it must be reached by patience and compromise."

Thus in his usual salty manner Mr. Mencken has contributed something, even if he had to continue to run counter to general opinion to do it.

YALE'S NEW SYSTEM

The new system of study, announced last week to be followed by Yale university next year will have far-reaching effects. What Yale does at other universities and pseudo-universities heed, and often follow.

The general aim of the system, which resembles closely that one to be tried at the University of Chicago, is to develop more intensely the student's initiative, almost a definite objective were it not for the fact that no system of the dozens conceived has been completely successful. Yale students under the system, are expected to benefit by abandonment of midyear examination, virtual elimination of compulsory courses and various other changes intended to place the responsibility for a comprehensive education more directly on their shoulders.

An incidental result, of course, will be the weeding out of students not in college primarily for an education. They will be forced to educate themselves to preserve their standing, if for no other reason.

It all means that instead of being treated like wayward minors held in control by an elaborate system of punishment and reward, students will be regarded as having a normal amount of initiative and common sense. It will be assumed that everyone who comes to college, if he be fitted to survive, will know enough to do the things that will make him survive. Seen from any angle the idea is sound. It is true, there may be some students left by the wayside who could carry on under the present system, but there will be a compensating increase in the dependability of the students who survive without assistance of a system that pampers them. The world outside the college campus wants results. It does not care how long you have lingered in the neighborhood of learning, or how expertly you can prattle on this or that fancy. Indeed, it does not care if you never have looked inside a book, or if you have looked inside thousands of them. What can you do with what you have, it asks. It requires first of all the very initiative that the mass of American academic tradition stifles.

It will be most interesting to educators and educated alike to see what Yale can do with the idea it has put to work so courageously.

What Others Say

HANDS OFF REAPPORTIONMENT

In one way or another—and all of them demagogic and undesirable—it has been attempted to tamper with the scheme for national legislative reapportionment approved by congress before the 1930 census. Representatives of state that are to lose one or more seats in the house of representatives are naturally concerned about the possible loss to their state, and perhaps to themselves, of places at Washington.

They joined in approving the reapportionment act when it was passed, but that was before the census was taken. Now it is known whom it may hit, and those who are likely to be chopped off are very actively searching for ways to keep their states fully represented on the federal pay roll. They are strenuously supported by moral reform bodies—which advocate all sorts of dodges to cheat the larger states, with their liberal metropolitan population, of just representation.

The latest, and, to the people, one of the least acceptable of these schemes comes from out where the tall corn grows. Representative Thurston, of Iowa, has proposed a bill to prevent loss of seats to any state, while apportionment on a basis of population would give the states now entitled to retain or add to the number of their representatives a larger increase in their congressional delegations.

As there are twenty-one states which under the present plan would lose one or more representatives, the only effect of the Thurston measure would be to increase the size of the national house by forty or fifty members. Its only object is to save existing places for elective jobholders and to create more. Its ultimate result would be to increase the cost of government to the taxpayer, and to confound confusion in an already too large and unwieldy legislative body.

Congress should stand pat on the original scheme of reapportionment, which will hold the house at its present size and add or subtract state representatives according to census figures.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Food For School Children

After all is said and done, child health depends largely on what the mother gives. Every conscientious mother today is in far better position to successfully rear her children than her forebear.

From the viewpoint of knowledge as to what is best for a child, the modern mother has great advantages.

Of course, poverty plays a large part in malnutrition of the child today, as it always has. There are great problems to be solved in the future for better care of the child, in education, physical care, and mental and social development.

Malnutrition comes most commonly from a diet which is incapable of supplying the needs of the body. To keep a child well and happy, he must first of all have the foods that make for energy and strength. If a child has not enough sufficient amounts of it, when he has improper habits of eating then something unpleasant is bound to happen. He grows listless, tired, pallid and irritable.

The school child, also, the preschool child, for that matter, uses up an enormous amount of energy in his day of work or play. Every movement he makes means just so much energy spent, and this has to be made up in the right kind and amount of food, as well as in rest and sleep. If he doesn't have the food he so much needs, Nature has a way of taking from the child's store of body substances in order to make up the deficiency in food. He loses weight, strength and vitality. His teeth and bones grow soft every part of his little body suffers.

One of the greatest factors to be blamed for a too small food intake is the school child's breakfast. In the homes where there is plenty of food, it is not uncommon for children to hurry through the meal, taking scarcely a snatch to eat, and then go running all the way to school because they may be late.

Recent investigations among school children showed that thousands of children among the poorer classes had for their breakfasts only coffee and bread. What a travesty on health this. Every child has a right to a good start in the day and in life.

Breakfast should be an unhurried meal, and for his proper nourishment he should have orange juice, or some other form of fruit, cereal and whole milk, and at least a glass of milk. This starts the day right. He has something to go on to meet the hard work of his morning. He will not be over-tired and over-hungry at luncheon time.

His luncheon should be adequate. Many a mother sets before her children the easiest thing to find, instead of wholesome, nourishing foods that go to make up the well balanced meal they should have. Dear mothers, you cannot afford to take any chances with your child's health when it comes to his food and eating habits.

Every child should have plenty of rest and sleep. One of the shortest roads to malnutrition is lack of sufficient and restful sleep. Young children need a nap or rest at midday. They need plenty of fresh air and sunshine. This is the path to health.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, Jan. 27

A particularly lucky and spirited state of affairs may be looked for on this day according to an interesting, if conflicting, chain of astral activities. Old obstructions swept away will make room for much progress, but this may be hampered by excitability, impetuosity and uncontrolled conduct or speech. With firm reliance and self-control, grasping splendid opportunities, alertness as to deception and safeguarding employment, excellent results may be accomplished. Literary matters of every character should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a particularly enterprising and progressive year. Old obstacles should be disposed of, new opportunities invite exceptional exploitation, and new contracts should be advantageous. But all good fortune may be nullified by reckless actions and ungoverned speech or disputes. Those in employment are urged to be more than careful not to merit reproof.

A child born on this day should be versatile, industrious, clever, resourceful and should make brilliant success, but must practice firm self-control and poise.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Dairy of a modern Pepé. This day a gentleman wearing white spats, puffed and frock coat used persuasive effluence to secure a fairish sum to make us, as he put it, "rich beyond dreams of avarice." But gazing at him I could think only of Marks, the lawyer, in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Came a jug of brandy with a music box inside which played upon lifting the stopper and so through the town. And on 6th avenue a tip-sy policeman lurched against me mumbling: "Whuz you tryin' to do?" to which I replied: "Mind my own business" surprised at my sudden bravado.

In the evening to a stag dinner at the Metropolitan Club and among those attending were Hunt Hearst, Ray Long, Frazier Hunt, Harold Ross, Charles Hanson Towne, Charles Francis Coe, Daise Town and Floyd Gibbons. And Montague Glass and E. D. Coblentz told dialect stories, amazingly neat.

Personal nomination for the most realistic telephone conversation heard on the New York Stage—that of Eugene Leontovitch in "Grand Hotel."

New York's most extravagantly eulogized sophisticate is Peter Arno, artist who created the Whoops Sisters. In his late 20's, he is the leading good natured sneerer of things as they are. Native born, Arno is the son of Supreme Court Justice Arnoux Peters, the "Peter Arno" being his pseudonym. Early he showed talent for the piano, went to Yale and organized a collegiate orchestra. For a time he tickled the ivories at Gil Boag's Rendezvous, accompanying the terse titubations of Gilda Gray.

Arno's art career was largely an accident. He presented his Whoops Sisters, two bonneted and cockney ladies with a jovial commonness, to Life which returned it by first mail. Judge then rejected it, but The New Yorker, faintly struggling for notice, accepted it. This launched both the artist and the magazine on the top wave.

Arno is a striking replica of a collar ad boy, glorified by the brothers Lyndecard. He has the perfect profile and acroplane shoulders and was anyone of his reputed 30 suits with a dash. In public he is self-effacing and belies the tabloid tale of his extraordinary exuberance.

Ned Weyburn is to direct one of the spring revues, thus returning to a field he abandoned to conduct a dance academy. He is the strictest of all stage disciplinarians.

Legend has it, he once worked an entire company into such fury that standing in the wings a cast iron bar grazed him. He missed ayeing death by an eyelash. Yet Weyburn has turned out as many musical show dance stars as any other instructor.

At the peak of the economic eclipse a millionaire household, consisting of father, mother, two daughters and a son, dismissed 16 servants, leaving a paltry 14 to do the work. Thus illustrates another

The Stark Electric is a mighty fine ridin' road." Hank Harper said last night.

"Sure it is," I replied. "Why wouldn't it be? The Stark Electric spent nearly $25,000 improving its track last year and it plans to fix up the rest of its track in the cities when new street paving programs are adopted in those places."

YOU get the lowest rates on your out-of-town telephone calls when you simply ask to be connected with the distant telephone, and not a particular person.

Calls for a particular person (or person-to-person calls) cost about 25 per cent more than calls to a certain telephone (known as station-to-station calls). Person-to-person calls do not have reduced evening and night rates, as do station-to-station calls.

It's easier and cheaper to make out-of-town calls like local calls. Just give "Long Distance" the number and hold the line while she makes the connection.

LEGION CHIEFS
APPROVE CASH
PAYMENT PLAN

Action Of Executives Follows Demands Of War Vets

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—Without indicating preference for any bill now pending before congress, the national executive committee of the American Legion yesterday indorsed the principle of immediate cash retirement on application of veterans' compensation certificates.

Veterans Demand Action

The cash value of the certificates is approximately $3,500,000,000. The executive committee met as the result of a demand among veterans for cashing the certificates and to settle the dispute over the Legion's action at the national convention at Boston last year, when a resolution favoring payment of 80 percent of the certificates was tabled.
A preamble to the resolution, which was adopted unanimously, stated because the Legion "was firmly opposed to initiating such legislation within itself." It added that since then "such question has been instituted elsewhere."

The resolution declared the committee was of the opinion that the immediate distribution and circulation of funds would at this time materially assist in the relief of present distressful economic conditions and put new life into American business and would bring immediate relief to the hundreds of thousands of veterans and their dependents who are in now in sore distress and dire need."

Consider Disabled First

However, the committee reaffirmed "as our first and immediate objective, legislation for the further relief of the disabled man and his dependents."

Concluding the resolution said, the committee "indorses the principle of immediate cash retirement, on application, of the adjusted service certificates, without choosing as between any of the specific bills now pending before congress, it being the opinion of the national executive committee that the passage of such legislation would benefit immeasurably not only the veterans themselves but the citizenship of the entire country."

FRAT POLITICS
ARE RULED OUT

Maneuvering In Competitive Activities On O. S. U. Campus
Virtually Eliminated

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—Fraternity politics at Ohio State university have received a deathly blow.

Future political maneuvering in competitive activities on the campus is virtually eliminated through the adoption of three new by-laws to the Student Senate constitution.
Members of fraternities cannot succeed each other in any competitive activity and no fraternity can have more than one top position in one activity at the same time, the new rules provide.

The by-laws are aimed directly at fraternities having members of their organization succeed each other to the positions of editor or business manager of the Makio,
Ohio State's yearbook and the Sun
Dial, monthly humorous publication. This method of succession is clearly forbidden in the future.
Other competitive activities which come under the new laws are gramatics and intramural sports.

Members of the senate, all heads of various activities, readily admitted in passing the legislation that fraternity politics for many years have played an important and decisive part in the selection of leaders in extra-curricular activities, thus depriving the unaffiliated men of an equal chance to hold a high campus position.

GOTHAM NIGHT
CLUB WRECKED

Shooting of Broadway Racketeers Follows Women's Quarrel; Police Hunt "Dutch" Schultz

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. — The wrecking of the Club Abbey and the shooting of one or more Broadway racketeers early today was attributed today to a quarrel between two women.
In reconstructing the events, police said they believed that Arthur
"Dutch" Schultz, Bronx beer baron was wounded along with "Shink" Sherman who is in Polyclinic hospital with painful gun and knife wounds. Schultz and his chief aide, known as "Marty the Wolf," are the objects of a search.

Schultz, his two bodyguards and two women were seated near Sherman's party, which included three women. During the course of the entertainment, a woman from Schultz' table and one from Sherman's table started an altercation, one of them using a table knife to defend herself.

The men joined in the argument and soon revolvers and knives were flashing. The lights were shot out. Schultz was whisked away in a taxicab by his two confederates. He was wounded.

Schultz is reputed to be a collection agent for "Big Bill" Dwyer in his Harlem beer racket.

Will Investigate
Students' Quarters

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—Declaring that bad housing is a "tangible cause for many students dropping out of school," the Student Senate at Ohio State university has appointed a committee to investigate existing conditions.

While many rooms are inspected each summer by the university housing bureau, established to aid students in finding suitable rooms, it was pointed out that no investigation is conducted during the winter months to check up on poor heating facilities.

The committee is expected to ask the university to appoint an official who sole duty it will be to visit as often as possible the 1200 rooms available for students in the university district. Freshmen dormitories also were suggested as a remedy.

but Mexicans are hired, in some cases exclusively on work that the United States-born cannot or will not do. They do not care, for instance, to lug heavy rails, in relaying railroad tracks. And in Arizona, cotton growers find that "Americans" will not pick cotton at prevailing prices of three cents a pound, made necessary by the selling price of cotton. Mexicans and Negroes do pick it.

It is not unusual to see Americans asking for "the price of a cup of coffee," close to a cotton field where they could earn the price of many cups. Specialized work for certain races is not new in America.
At one time, immigrants from Ireland did the hard work, "beyond on the old railway." Italians took that work from the Irish and laid most of the railroad trackage in the United States where there were no Chinese to compete. Now Mexicans do the work that Irish and Italians did formerly, and it is fortunate that they can and will do the work for the nation's welfare demands that it be done. To prevent it would simply mean forcing and hastening labor saving machinery, that would mean cutting down employment.

A quarter of a mile from this spot on the Mojave desert, rails are laid by an inexpensive machine, with crane attached, that eliminates 23 men on each job, and does the work with absolute accuracy.

The New Jersey representative, a dry, who will not return to the next congress, is a close friend of President Hoover, but he has emphasized that the resubmission idea was his own and not the chief executive's.

Judge Kenyon, for many years a Republican senator from Iowa, was the chief proponent of such a plan within the Wickersham commission.

Judge McCormick, who with Kenyon and Wickersham favored a further trial of prohibition, also held it would be desirable to ascertain "the majority sentiment of our citizenry upon the desirability of prohibition as a national policy."

GUARD IS HELD AT COUNTY JAIL

Bucyrus Quiet As Threats Of Violence In Sheriff's Death Wane

(By Associated Press)

BUCYRUS, Jan. 26.—An extra guard was maintained today at the Crawford county jail, where two Negro brothers were held for the slaying of Sheriff George Davenport Friday night, but fears of mob violence had abated.

The city was quiet after a tense Saturday night following the killing of the sheriff and the fatal wounding of the third of the brothers charged with his death. The precautionary guard was to be kept, however, until after funeral services for Davenport today. The sheriff, a World War veteran, was to be given military rites, with uniformed veterans following the gun caisson bearing his body to Oakwood cemetery.

Feeling ran high for many hours, but officials dispersed the crowds which milled about the jail building early yesterday. Several hundred persons had gathered after Elijah Ralls, one of the sheriff's alleged slayers, was shot and killed as he leaped through a window during questioning and attempted to escape.

First degree murder indictments will be asked of the county grand jury at a special session Thursday against Blanton and Walter Ralls, Prosecutor J. D. Sears announced. He said both brothers had confessed complicity in the slaying of Davenport, who with two deputies had entered their home at Crestline to arrest them on chicken stealing charges.

THE DAY In Sports

SALEM CAGERS THREATEN SEEK DISTRICT LAURELS

For the first time since 1927, that history-making year when Salem High flashed to victory over Dayton in the state tournament at Columbus, have Quaker City fans optimistic hopes regarding their team's impending hopes in district tournament competition. This comes as a result of the team's great showing for seven consecutive contests—all victories, by the way—and a general assurance from players themselves that the team that beats Salem High is the team to represent Northeastern Ohio at Columbus.

From the performance of the team to date it appears that the predictions of Coach Floyd Stone have come true. Pessimistic concerning his chances for an outstanding team at the start of the season, Stone nevertheless foresaw in this powerful array of cage talent, a potential championship team. Perhaps not a state champion, and maybe not even a district title-holder, but a team that can threaten the claim of any other Ohio cage outfit to such laurels as are awarded in basketball competition.

The Salem team is not one that is sensationally strong. It is a machine that works hard, puts out good, but not spectacular basketball, and performs with ruggedness that gives it the appearance of an extraordinarily rough aggregation.

However, before district affairs must be considered, Salem High faces an invasion of East Palestine this Friday night and other forthcoming struggles of importance.

Here's what happened over the week-end in the field of sport:

Golf

LOS ANGELES—Ralph Guldahl, Dallas youngster, beats Tony Manero, one up, in final round of motion picture match play tournament.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA.—Florida east coast tournament goes to Carl Dann, Jr., who beats E. T. McGovern, of Vermont, 8 and 7.

Baseball

NEW YORK—Joe Sewell, veteran infielder released by Cleveland, signs with Yankees.

PHILADELPHIA—Phillies announce signing of outfielders Tony Planky, former all-around athlete at Georgetown.

NEW ORLEANS—Eddie Morgan, Cleveland first baseman, quits baseball at 26.

CHICAGO—Allen Hall suffers first defeat in world's three cushion billiards championship, losing to Denton, 50-47.

LOS ANGELES—George Young, racing driver, killed in speedway crash.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Ross Robinson, Canadian flash, wins quarter and half-mile races in eastern United States speed skating champion ships.

GARY, IND.—Casper Oimen, national champion, wins Ogden Dunes club ski jumps with two leaps of 168 feet.

SALEM—Saxons lose first game of season to Youngstown Sigma Club. Dover walloped by High varsity; reserves win tenth straight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—After a White House conference, Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury issued a statement today saying the coast guard "was performing its statutory duty in prevention of smuggling in the capture of the Josephine K off the New Jersey coast Saturday."

"It is regrettable the captain lost his life but it was simply an incident to the transaction," he continued. "I feel sure the coast guard did not fire with intention of taking life but to prevent the rum runner escaping."

Salem High Trims Dover, 48-24, For Seventh Straight Victory

Smith Leads Offensive Drive For Stonemen In One-Sided League Win

Salem High's powerfully rugged basketball team, perhaps the strongest quintet to represent the Red and Black since 1927, flashed to its seventh consecutive victory of the season Saturday night, overwhelming a presumably strong aggregation from Dover High, 48-24, at Dover.

Continuing its campaign for the Northeastern Ohio Big Ten league championship, the Quakers performed with almost unbeatable tactics, outplaying Dover at every turn with a great passing offensive that indicated, in emphatic and graphic terms, that once again the Salemites must be considered as a power in sectional competition.

It was Salem's fourth Big Ten victory out of five starts and there looms ahead for the Quakers a roseate future in this season's cage campaign. With nine decisions already won and the season more than half completed, there is every possibility that this year's edition of Salem cage talent will take its place in the sporting "hall of fame" along with that great team which four years ago won distinction for its school in state interscholastic tournament competition.

Dover Outclassed
Smooth, machine-like performance of the entire Salem offensive combination again characterized the team's play in its humiliation of Dover, 1927-28 state champions, but William Smith, hard-plugging three-sport star, flashed his greatest basketballing in his scholastic career in scoring 10 field goals and three fouls for a total of 23 points, almost one-half of the number scored by the winners.

Dover was completely snowed under by the power of Salem's dazzling offense and was able to score only nine goals from the field. Six of these came in the second half, after Coach Floyd Stone had made repeated substitutions in his lineup. Salem started from the first minute of play in rolling up the score, working from the moment they stepped onto the floor in the Tuscarawas county ballroom until the final gun, with a finesse that allowed them to work the ball through Dover's offense with monotonous regularity. Accurate passwork of the entire team and great shooting of Ed Beck and Smith were factors in the team's running up a 30-9 score at the half.

Smith Stars
The entire team played a prominent part in the victory, principal honors going to Smith for his sensational offensive work. D. Godfrey led Dover's attack, both on defense and offense.

TONY CANZONERI MEETS FARR IN SOUTHERN RING

Boxing Industry Prepares For Busy Week; Series Of Bouts Slated

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The boxing industry gets away to a good start in its weekly program tonight with a lightweight title bout at New Orleans. Heavyweight shows at Philadelphia and Boston and a welterweight struggle at Oklahoma City involving Tommy Freeman of Cleveland, 147-pound champion of the world.

Title Not At Stake
Freeman's title will not be at stake for the Clevelander meets Eddie Murdoch of Tulsa in an overweight affair.

Tony Canzoneri defends his 135-pound crown against Johnny Farr of Cleveland, at New Orleans, with Jack Dempsey as referee. Although Tony fought his way into a comfortable fortune in New York, he is a native of New Orleans.

He will be a heavy favorite over Farr, who must score a knockout to get the title. It is a no decision bout.

Loughran In Battle
Tommy Loughran former king of the light heavyweights returns to the ring at Philadelphia in a ten-rounder with Jack Gross, Salem, N. J., heavyweight. At Boston Ernie Schaaf, rugged Boston heavyweight who outpointed Jimmy Braddock here Friday night, is matched with Dick Daniels of Minneapolis.

Madison Square Garden's regular Friday night show, the only other outstanding card on the National schedule, finds Jack (Kid) Berg, crack English lightweight, opposing Herman Perlick, of Kalama, Mich., in the ten round windup.

Bowls to Record

Jack Almer (above), veteran bowler, of Youngstown, O., long listed in the select "300" class, has astounded the country by his recent achievements. Almer blasted the giant maples for 300, 300 and 227 in a five-man match in league competition at Youngstown, tying the world's record. The only other individual who has bowled two perfect games in one match and chronicled by the American Bowling Congress, is Frank Canana, of Buffalo, N. Y., who performed the feat in 1924.

SEATTLE.—A hurried police search for additional "murder" clues was halted when the county coroner announced that a human skull, found in a yard near the county hospital, had apparently been part of a doctor's display and was 15 years old, and that a rib, found near the skull, had belonged to an animal.

Ohio State Drops Back Into Fifth Place In Big Ten Race

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Northwestern held a lease of at least two weeks on first place in the Big Ten basketball championship campaign today as the race slowed down to a walk because of semester examinations.

The Wildcats, undisputed leaders with four victories in as many engagements, do not get into action again until February 7, when they meet Chicago.

Few Games Ahead
Only five games will be played in the sporadic firing along the Big Ten front during the next two weeks, two this week and three next.

Michigan will attempt to gain sole possession of fifth place tonight in a return engagement with Ohio State at Ann Arbor. Ohio State dropped to fifth position Saturday by its defeat by Northwestern, upset the Wolverines, 22 to 16, in their first meeting but Michigan, confident because of the stunning 41 to 15 defeat it handed Chicago

East Liverpool Loses To Steubenville
Steubenville High's crack basketball team handed East Liverpool High its second defeat in as many days, 26-23, in an extra-period game at East Liverpool Saturday night.

The score was tied, 23-23 at the close of regulation playing time, the Stubs scoring three points in the overtime session.

Saturday night, is a favorite to win.

One Battle Saturday
The only other game of the week's card comes Saturday night with Chicago invading Minnesota. Both teams have a record of two victories and one defeat and the game should be close unless Sidney Yates, Maroon star, fails to recover from an attack of flu that forced him out of the Michigan game.

Chicago defeated Minnesota, 32 to 31, in their first game but the Gophers have improved.

Northwestern proved its class as a leader in defeating Ohio State. At the half the Wildcats led by the slender margin of 14 to 12, but came back in the second with a whirlwind attack that put them on top by a 35 to 22 score.

"I Am Gratified to See You Openly Using the Word 'Spit'"

Says

DR. JAMES A. DUMAS
Commissioner of Public Health, Lynn, Mass.

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

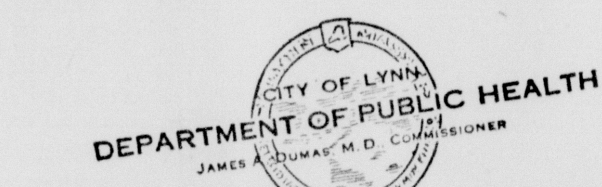

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Dumas' letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Dumas writes: "The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Gentlemen:—

Spit is one of the words which we have learned to avoid in polite parlance. Put in our distaste for the use of an unpleasant word, there is a likelihood of minimizing the dangers of contamination which this word connotes.

I am, therefore, gratified to see you openly using the word spit in your advertising of cigars.

The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance. You may, of course, publish this letter if it will help.

Yours very truly,

James A. Dumas, M.D.

CUBAN RHYTHM PROMISES NEW DANCE THRILLS

Latest Steps Described As "Burning And Unrestrained"

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Maestro Arthur Murray, a dreamer whose edicts determine how and when Americans shall dance, emerged from his ivory tower amid a blare of bugles and sounded the death march over the foxtrot, the waltz, the Charleston and the Blackbottom.

He is going to supplant them with two dances from Cuba—the Rumba and the Danzon—and those fortunate souls who were in the maestro's studio for the debut saw genuine Cubans "lose themselves in the intoxication of a dance four centuries old," as Murray phrased it.

"Burning, Unrestrained"
"You will soon be dancing the Rumba," Murray said. It will sweep the country like wildfire. Burning, unrestrained. Just watch the little lady and the gentleman do the Rumba."

Senorita Alicia Parla, and the gentleman, Senor Carlos Carrepa, wound their arms around one another and inquired in Spanish if someone would please start the phonograph. They were off. In the Rumba. Yes it was Cuban, utterly Cuban. The little lady twisted across the floor, and the senior twisted with her. She broke away from him, whirled twice on her heels and slid away. The villain still pursued her, and soon they were back in one another's arms cooing, cheek-to-cheek. Quite touching.

That progress was repeated for eight minutes and then the Rumba was over. The atmosphere sizzled, spectators were agape and Maestro Murray beamed.

A Little More Twisting
"I told you so," he cried. "It's a triumph."

The Rumba resembles a tango without the castanets; and with more twisting.

Murray expounded on the Danzon. It is danced, he asserted, in the better homes and clubs of Havana.

"The lazy rhythms, entrancing steps and intriguing time are a delight to the accomplished American dancer," proclaimed Murray.

"During the change of tempo in the Danzon the couples stop dancing and chat for a minute while the music plays on. In Cuba, the lady opens her fan (Cuban ladies Mild weather and a strong offshore wind drove ice from the bay and carried out a large number of nets. Several of the 74 commercial fishing concerns here lost all their equipment.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to Lease Drug Co., and Broadway Lease Drug Store or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength) and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. Adv.

Today's Pattern

A plain yoke is used with telling effect on this cunning bloomer dress for a wee tot. Inverted pleats on either side of the cleverly shaped front panel give ample freedom as well as grace. The short sleeves and the lower edge of the yoke, are daintily trimmed with narrow lace or embroidery.

Pattern 1882 will prove serviceable as well as smart if made of a cotton fabric—percale, broadcloth, dimity pique, etc. A colorful print contrasts nicely with white trimming and a few colored buttons add a chic touch.

May be ordered only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires 2 1/4 yards of 36 inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

This pattern will be delivered upon receipt of 15c. coin or stamps, carefully wrapped. Latest Fashion Book 10c. Send all orders to SALEM NEWS PATTERN DEPARTMENT, 245 WEST 17TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them, 15c, 30c, 60c.

PICTURES NEW AUTO CITY IN SOVIETS' LAND

Detroit Mechanic Tells Of Progress Aided
By Ford

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—Huge machine shops, forge shops and other factory buildings spreading steadily out over acre after acre of one-time farm land; rows of apartment houses of modern design; from ten to twelve thousand men and women working day and night.

This is the picture brought back to Detroit by Stephen Dybetz, erstwhile automobile mechanic of the progress being made in the development of Autostroy, the new city which the Soviet government is erecting 10 miles from Nijny Novgorod as the automobile center of the U. S. S. R. Dybetz is superintendent of the construction work on this phase of the five year industrialization plan.

Back For Consultation
Dybetz, for 10 years a mechanic in the United States, is back for a consultation with officials and technicians of the Ford Motor company, through whose cooperation the new industrial city is being constructed. The agreement provided that the Ford Motor company train men and furnish blueprints, cost records and other data necessary for the production of automobiles. In return the Russians agreed to purchase from the Ford company cars and parts they do not make themselves.

Engineers, draftsmen, scientists and other workmen have been sent from Russia to be trained in the Ford organization. As one group completed its training it has returned to Russia and another has taken its place here.

Actual construction work on the new city started last May and Dybetz says everything has been done on schedule and the work should be completed not later than June 15. The manufacturing plant will have a capacity of 450 cars and trucks a day. During the first year it is expected the plant will produce 60 per cent of the motors and transmissions needed. The remainder will be imported from Dearborn, home of the Ford company.

Appeal to Pride
The pride of the workers is appealed to, Dybetz explains, to obtain results. "Each group of workers," he said, "has a leader who is responsible for the work of his crew. His picture, drawn in a cartoon, is prominently displayed on the walls about his section of the project. If he is 50 per cent ahead of schedule his speed is rewarded by having him pictured in an airplane. But if he is far behind, he is shown astride a turtle. To be thus pictured would be considered a disgrace."

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton

Is The Shaving Corner Convenient?

"Four sidelights a handglass, and a triplicate mirror on her dressing table, all to powder her ladyship's nose," grumbled the young husband pleasantly "whereas I have to do all sorts of contortions for my shaving. Hole in a corner mirror that casts a shadow instead of reflecting light—it's a wonder I don't cut my throat instead of shaving my face."

Some grumble, some bear their hard lot in silent martyrdom, but it's a wonder there isn't more rebellion occasionally among the army of men who struggle with inadequate facilities for each morning's shave. And they have viewed calmly, the luxurious conveniences surrounding lady's powder-and-rouge box.

So many conveniences are now designed to take the blight off the daily shaving job, and even the built-in bathroom is not all it should be, the new accessories of install comfort where there was none.

The tall shaving stand, which can be moved about easily is preferred by some. This contains a drawer for all equipment and a flexible mirror which can be tilted to suit. Then there are the shaving mirrors equipped with double lights on either side, so that there are no shadows and enough illumination to please the funniest shaver. The choice of lighting fixtures over the shaving mirror is important. High powered bulbs are not the complete answer. But the bulb should be a type which casts no shadows.

Also there should be adequate space for equipment. Of course no bathroom shelf or medicine closet is big enough after the first few weeks of use. But a shelf of his own, never to be invaded by cosmetics or medicines may impart to the shaving member of the household a feeling of fair treatment.

"FEET FIRST" At The State

The imaginative and organizing genius, to say nothing of the acting genius, of Harold Lloyd are impressively paraded before the eager public eye and ear again in "Feet First", the new Lloyd picture at the State theater.

"Feet First" is a rollicking, breath-taking production. Harold is seen as the lowly shoe clerk who aspires to high honors as the leading salesman in the chain of shoe stores owned by Robert McAdie.

After a series of humorous adventures in which Harold poses as a young man of wealth in order to impress Barbara Kent at a society ball, he one day finds himself on board a liner bound from Honolulu on which are also McAdie and Barbara. There follows a veritable barrage of Lloydian fun as Harold tries to "crash" a social event aboard the ship.

Finally he gets ashore only to encounter fresh thrills on the top and sides of a sky-scraper, furnishing a dare-devil climax with hair-raising stunt-stuff.

The climatic thrills of the best of its kind the talkies have given us. It exceeds in gasp-fulness the thrilling shots of that famous Lloyd opus, "Safety Last".

"LET'S GO NATIVE" At The Grand

The great Jack Oakie grin invasion which began, for the delectation of millions of talkie-goers, a year or so ago, continues its irresistible spasms of laughter at the Grand theater this week in "Let's Go Native." The cast includes Jeanette MacDonald, Kay Francis, Skeets Gallagher, James Hall.

Oakie is seen as Voltaire McGinnis, the goofy but go-getting taxi

LLOYD in "FEET FIRST"

Here comes Harold with a brand new bag of tricks that will make your sides ache with laughter. Fun no end! Action every second. This time the monarch of mirth comes to you as a smiling shoe clerk pursuing a beautiful girl from the beach at Waikiki to the house-tops of San Francisco—a high and dizzy romance that will send the chills up and down your spine. An event the whole family looks forward to with keen anticipation. Get set for the gloom destroyer of 1931! Get set for the laugh of the year!

This policy calls for one increase in rate beginning with the fourth year; but dividends begin at that time and on the basis of current experience as indicated above these dividends are more than sufficient at all ages to fully offset the increase in the premium, thus reducing the cost below the initial rate.
